

DT:

We designed and built our own catapults, linking to our Viking topic in History. We were able to create some great spring-loaded catapults with levers, but the pulley system was a bit tricky, but we used our values of Resilience and Teamwork and almost got there!

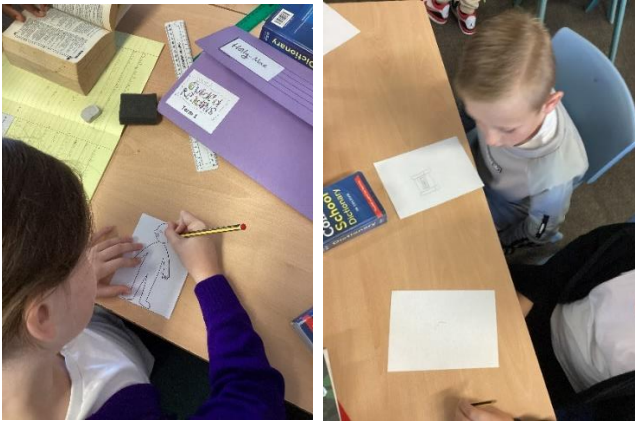

Writing:

We are basing our pieces of writing around Cressida Cowell's book 'How to Train Your Dragon' and have used drama and art to support our creative process. We started off making a dragon's eye out of clay and a glass bead. We then built up our character descriptions through role play and gathering vocab as a group. We're getting pretty good at editing our work as we write, ensuring we use a variety of punctuation in the right places and show off our skills by including prepositions within our expanded noun phrases.

Enhanced Provision:

We absolutely love the way Enhanced Provision gives us extra opportunities to learn and explore our topics in a practical and fun way around the classroom.

History:

To support our learning, we spent the day in the life of a Viking! We learnt about their trade, how they used to carry their money in the form of jewellery, how they fought and what it was like to grow up as a Viking child and what games they would have played. The thing that shocked us the most was the fact they didn't have baths...they didn't even have a toilet! We are definitely glad we didn't grow up back then as we don't like the idea of having to dig a hole and use a leaf!
